

'A Beautiful Day At The Bellbridge House Hotel'

While all eyes were on Doonbeg Golf Club for The Celebrity Wedding of the Year last August, The Bellbridge House Hotel had reason to celebrate themselves with their very own celebrity visitor!

Bono and his wife Ali Hewson arrived at the hotel for a quiet snack and a drink. However within minutes word went out that he was there and dozens of well wishers came to say hello to their very own celebrity.

Bono stayed at the hotel for nearly two hours enjoying the hospitality of Derek Logue, Proprietor. He had a bite to eat and a few drinks and then was happy to sign autographs and take pictures with the large crowd gathered waiting to catch a glimpse of 'One of Ireland's most Famous Rock Stars'.

'We were delighted that he chose The Bellbridge House Hotel for his quick visit to the Spanish Point Area, says Derek Logue Proprietor. 'He was a gentleman to all the well-wishers and was happy to pose for pictures and I look forward to welcoming him back soon!,' he added.
